

Acoustic Sincerity Two (2)

1. Native American Praise (Psalm 100)

Kenneth E. Robertson (with a bit of lyrical assistance from David, King of Israel)

Liner Notes

What if you were to combine King David's lyrics in Psalm 100, from the land of Israel, with an ancient musical style from this side of the Atlantic Ocean?

Story

Another evening, in Mark's living room, practicing for an upcoming event at church, having some fun, and jawing after our fingers got too sore to play anymore. Mark and Lorei had decorated their living room with a lot of Native American and American Western items. I asked Mark, "My great-grandmother was half-Apache, and you have all this Native American memorabilia in your home. Why is it that neither of us has ever written a Native American gospel song?" Mark shrugged his shoulders and said, "I dunno." Guess it was my turn, and this song arrived over the course of the next several days.

Lyrics

(chant, on pitch, with percussion)

Hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah

(descant 1)

I will enter His gates with thanksgiving in my heart
I will enter His courts with praise
I will give thanks to Him and praise His name
For the Lord is good and His love endures forever

(descant 2)

Shout for joy to the Lord all the earth
Serve the Lord with gladness and song
Come before Him with joyful songs
Know that the Lord He is good

(descant 3)

It is He who hath made us and we are His
We are His people, the sheep of His pasture
For the Lord is good, His love endures
He is faithful through all generations

(repeat descant 1)

Hallelujah x 4, then ha!
